SCHURZ IN INDIANA.

Summary of his Speech at Indianapolis—Masterly Efforts.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 21 —In his speech here last night, Secretary Schurz said that he intended to appeal to the reason and not the passions of his audience, and then in a masterly way proceeded to set forth reasons why the republican party under Garfield would do vastly better work for the country than the democracy under Hancock The chances of the greenbackers were not visible He alluded with some personal pride to the record of the administration now about to surrender its duties into other hands While not free from blemish it was in every way creditable He reviewed at considerable length the unsavory record of the democratic party on the questions of secession slavery and finance It was not a question of honoring a worthy general, but of giving the country the benefit of a president of a character and training such as statesmen was at said disadvantages in handling affairs of statecraft, by which he was wholly or even partially unskilled that he became frequently bewildered often did wrongly and discouraged or reckless, and did in comparatively little injury to the government no matter how pure, able or steadfast he be.

He declared that there has been wonderful progress in civil service reform during the present administration and that the democratic party who pledged by instinct and platform to make a clean sweep of such reform such a policy carried out would in a few years do almost irreparable injury to the country, which is coming to demand further advance rather than retrogression into the spoils system He made a strong appeal for the election of Porter in Indiana and concluded The democracy may in course of time gain the confidence of the people, but that will be only when republicanism and advocates of unsound money have ceased to be in the main so powerful and influential an element as seriously to threaten the great commercial interests of the country when by certain fair and successful action in protecting the rights of the voter whether white or black whether republican or democratic in all parts of the country and by the suppression of fraud at the ballot box through the best by and irresistible power of public opinion within itself it shall have won the right to appear in its platforms as the protector of freedom and purity of elections and when it shall be found no longer necessary to discard the ablest statesmen and to put a general of the army who has never been anything but a soldier in control as President of the presidency, to make for itself a certificate of loyalty and settlement of the great conflicts of the past And for all these reasons, in my opinion the interests of the republic demand the election of James A Garfield to the presidency of the United states

CORRECTED ERROR REVIEWED

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The real estate market report July 17 says

The west bank of the Willamette above Clay street can only be made suitable for dock purposes by very heavy outlay owing to the shallowness of the water In your issue of the 20th the author of the report says We did not say that there is not deep water for miles above Clay street and further on describe that the river bottom south of Clay street has the shallows which for a few months in the year are above low water mark The shallows referred to are from 20 to 25 feet above low water mark and consequently are overflowed only during great floods

The intention of these criticisms is not to impugn the fairness of the real estate report ers but to inculcate more care in the preparation of reports which are likely to affect important interests

If calling attention to the above inaccuracies will produce this effect the writers object will have been accomplished If not those interested will at least receive future similar statements with allowance In either case it is unnecessary to continue this discussion

HORRID DISASTER

Twenty Men Suffocated or Drowned at Jersey City—A Hero's Sacrifice

SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN

NEW YORK July 21—This morning a caisson leading to the entrance of the Hudson river tunnel connect d at Seventeenth street Jersey City caved in carrying with it an unknown quantity of earth Twenty one men were buried seven were soon after taken out bruised but not seriously and the rescuers are laboring hard to get the remaining 14 men while water from the river flows in rapidly Steam fire engines were set to work to save those who might still be rescued from drowning Many women reside in the vicinity of the tunnel and a very large and excited crowd of people soon gathered

LATER—It now appears that twenty two men lost their lives while six had almost a miraculous escape A night gang of 20 men including Assistant Superintendent Woodward and two firemen entered the shaft at midnight The depth of the shaft is 80 feet and while most of the men were employed at its bottom about one third of the gang was engaged on a brick wall of an arch 25 feet higher It was the latter squad all brick layers that escaped except two The main arch of the tunnel runs out from the shaft about a distance of 30 feet when it opens into two distinct arches that are to form a tunnel Through some negligence, it is supposed the air lock was not properly adjusted and when the process of shafting commenced a brick wall connecting the two arches gave way and water rushed into the cave Following is a list of the casualties Peter Woodward assistant superintendent Frank Aleston foreman Thomas Burns foreman, and 22 workmen perished The superintendent has put a gang of 100 men to work and these will make a new passage to the tunnel They are not expected to accomplish the task in less than three days

Additional Particulars

The official report of the tunnel disaster says that 28 men were in the tunnel when the accident occurred, of whom eight escaped and 20 were drowned The cause given is that probably the men did not watch the brick wall of the working shaft as closely as they should The accident will stop work for three weeks There is no other point in the official report not already covered When the 8 men had gotten out, another workman in trying to pass through the door leading from the air lock into a temporary chamber of the tunnel was jammed in the doorway and despite the efforts of those ahead could not be brought as the door closed upon him and fell him last Peter Woodland assistant superintendent, told the men to try and get out, and when the sixth man was fastened in the doorway, called to those who had escaped telling them to hurry and not lose time and get assistance and help the rest and himself who were left behind He refused to leave himself, saying that he would stay and make every effort to get the rest out and if it were not possible then those escaping must try to get the rest and himself out alive Following a complete list of the saved Thos Brady, B McGovern, — Moline, Thomas Cummings Carl Hansen, J Hannostrand John Davis and James Hayes

Statement of One of the Rescued Workmen

Thomas Vannostrand one of the rescued men said this the main shaft is sixty feet deep and the tunnel is effected through a cylindrical barrel six feet in diameter and fourteen feet in length This is called an air lock, and serves to preserve the density of the atmosphere of the tunnel which in turn is secured by forcing air through pipes from pumps There is a door in each end of the air lock and they both open inward Each side of this doors are round windows of thick glass through which one can see the side of the air lock a view can be gained of the work and workmen inside the tunnel There were twenty eight men at work at this tunnel They were in an at 12 o clock last night for an eight-hour shift I was at work near the east end of the tunnel in the west end of the tunnel At about 4.30 o clock I heard the boss swear and the water give way At the same time I felt a rush of air in my face I started back with nine of the men who were near me and ran into the lock As first I was locked by a joist, which we pulled out, and then the door slammed to Through the doublepane windows we could see the men inside the tunnel The water rushed in Peter Woodland was the assistant superintendent stood at the door outside of the lock which was stationary It would not move when us within at knowing the dead eyes This would be fatal to the men inside, as the water would rush in and drown them in an instant Woodland knew this but stood at the door, His face was ghastly white and he realized the terrible danger He said to me Tom, quick hold of my hand and do all you can for us I knew it was death to us all if I did not, so I obeyed the order As the glass broke the water rushed in and the lock shot out in the main shaft I heard the men to drown, as the space occupied by the shaft filled with water in an instant. We were wholly stripped of our clothes when we crawled out. I heard a rush of water at our back It filled in fast but the obstruction kept it back long enough for us to escape from the main shaft. It was all we could do to save ourselves Woodland was standing in water up to his waist when I saw him it was sure death and I had to knock on the head and drag him out. He knew as well as I that it was all over with them I shall never forget the look on his face or the sound of his voice as he told us to save ourselves, though the very act was to insure his death

Other Data Is

Officers of the company in explaining the accident say the workmen in coming through the air lock, must have exercised unusual carelessness both doors of the air lock being opened at the same time The compressed air was allowed to escape, The compressed air serves a double purpose namely, to keep the water out and to support the tunnel so that when it escaped the catastrophe was inevitable

Workmen were busily engaged this afternoon digging up a strong pump for the purpose of drawing out water from the well like structure, and also for drawing water out of the tunnel, which is filled to its extreme limit as has been ascertained by engineers by the test of attempting to force compressed air into the cavity The water in the shaft has fallen about 10 feet since morning in consequence of receding of the tide Every now and then, the surface of the water would be disturbed by numerous air bubbles and at times would appear as if boiling This appearance it is said is due to the fact the some of the earth on the sea bed is falling, constantly within the tunnel and displacing air produced this effect Engineers and officials say that it is impossible for any imprisoned workmen to be alive at the water within the 40 feet length of the tunnel is up to the roof and even above it Laborers who are making excavations in the shaft will however cease their labors to get at where the bodies are supposed to be but it is impossible to force any air into the tunnel as all which has been forced in so far has escaped through the shaft in which it has made the water keep up two and three feet above the surface It is feared this afternoon that seven men instead of eight have been saved as one named Thomas Cummins who was reported by one of the workmen to have escaped is now said to be missing

THE SCANDALOUS HAWAIIAN TREATY

Fortunes in Sugar Cane Cultivation—Hawaiian Sugars—A California Company's Great Undertaking and Prospective Dividends

A correspondent of the New York Sun writing from Honolulu gives the following account of the workings and results of the scandalous Hawaiian treaty which owes its existence chiefly to San Oregon sense of This treaty by the terms it expires will have taken out of the United States government 12 millions of dollars and out of the pockets of our consumers of sugar ten millions more It is one of the most scandalous jobs ever carried through by any of the treaty making powers The writer says

The sugar interest of the kingdom is a highly flourishing one and the extraordinary liberality of the United States government in allowing to close Hawaiian sugars from the payment of any kind of duty has raised the sugar industry of the islands from a condition of extreme depression to one of great activity which has no parallel in other sugar producing countries Planters who were nearly crushed and overwhelmed with debt in 1875 are fast becoming millionaires New plantations are being opened up on all the islands many of them upon a scale hitherto unknown here Irrigation works are being constructed costing in some cases hundreds of thousands New and improved mills and machinery supplanting the old mills and labor saving appliances of all kinds are coming into use in the cultivation of the cane fields It is expected that quite 40 000 tons of sugar will be exported to San Francisco this year against 12 500 in 1875—th year before the reciprocity treaty went into operation This increase shows more forcibly than any observation of mine the beneficial effect of the treaty to the sugar planters of the Hawaiian Island. This increased export has not lowered the price of sugars to the consumers in the United States The remission of duties has therefore inured solely to the benefit of the Hawaiian planters and as the average duty charged in the United States on sugars of the grade of Hawaiian sugars, imported from other countries, amounts to $56 a ton of 2000 pounds the planters here are receiving a magnificent bounty from the United States treasury amounting to the large sum of $2 240 000 on this year's export to California As the export of Hawaiian sugars to California in 18 3 will reach 40 000 tons the United States treasury will be the loser by $3,360 000 a year All the sugars shipped this year go to the California sugar refineries The price is fixed at the cost of Manila sugars of equal grade and down in San Francisco duty paid The duty on the Marietta sugar goes into the United States treasury the duty or rather its equivalent comes to the Hawaiian planter to the cane and making sugar on a well organized plantation is less than the amount of the remitted duty It is obvious that the profits of the planters are simply enormous With the exception of a few parties in California who are interested in a very large enterprise known as the "Hawaiian Commercial Company" I do not know of a single American citizen who has come to the islands to invest capital in sugar plantations since the passage of the reciprocity treaty Much more than a score of Englishmen and Scotchmen have promptly and well been reaping a handsome share of the large profits of this business It is claimed that with the improvements of labor saving machinery of cultivating the cane and improved machinery for sugar making sugar can be laid down in San Francisco for 2 cents a pound or $40 a ton of 2000 pounds and that with that for at least $60 a ton profit without counting the remitted duties. Last year the Spreckels Sugar company alone a profit of $1,7 0 000 in the four years to which is to be added the remitted duties of for 3 000 amounting to $1 40 000 a total profit of $1 2,000, or over one hundred per cent. a year profit on an outlay of $1 000 000 Crops producing 15 000 tons of sugar per annum will pay an annual profit of $600 000 without the aid of the reciprocity treaty

A Superstitious Siwash Attempts to Kill Another Indian Near Scotia

SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN

SEATTLE, July 21—Some time since the death of Charley the young chief of the Old Man House Indians was announced At the same time it was reported that the Indians had attributed his death to the bad Tamanas of an old Indian medicine man named Howard and precipitated the serious trouble which ensued as the Indians are accustomed to punish all such imaginary offences by death However nothing more came of it until Friday morning Howard was shot at on the beach between this city and Tacoma while engaged in fishing with some other Indians Upon looking around the Indians noticed Charley George father of the defunct chief hid in the brush just up the bank preparing to draw another bead on Howard Howard immediately reported to this city and swore out a warrant for Charley George's arrest From testimony in a preliminary examination to day it appears that Howard visited the the reservation last April, and desiring to stay there, shook hands with Chief Charley, that just subsequent to his departure, Charley sickened, and died and the Indians claimed that the bad 'Tamanas" of Howard killed him The ball which the chief's father shot at Howard Friday passed through his hat barely grazing his skull Howard is an intelligent civilized old Indian who some eight years ago severed his tribal relations denounced the charm of the Tamanas and settled down as a farming on a homestead claim at Port Orchard, and has not practiced as a medicine man since

S Hess of Dayton, being drunk, disorderly and generally belligerent was arrested on Saturday and lodged in the jail at Lafayette and waiving examination for sundry misdeeds charged will remain there in lieu of bonds until the October term of court in that place

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 22, 1880.

BETTER GO SLOW.

Information comes from Kemper county, Mississippi, that Mrs. Dixon, whose husband was assassinated because he dared to head an independent political party, worried over the recollection of his death until a brain fever mercifully came, and with death ended her sufferings. The man who murdered the husband and through him fatally wounded the wife, was a member of the late democratic national convention. The fact that he was in Cincinnati to assist in nominating a democratic candidate for president was not a good thing and will not help the democratic party. This thing is over. The man and his wife are in their graves; their deaths add but one to the numberless tragedies which have left their stains upon every state of the extreme south since the war. But if the democracy would have a ghost of a show to win this year there must be no more Dixon and Chisolm murders. The story of these murders has run side by side with the democratic wail that Tilden was wronged and the democracy defrauded four years ago, and the situation became so painful that at last they were glad to try to bury both under the nomination of a northern soldier. But that nomination will not avail unless with it some appearance of a fair deal is given the people of the south for at least this year. The nomination of Hancock is simply not to honor that soldier, but to see if through him the democracy cannot be restored to power. The men necessary to either his election or that of Garfield, will question before voting not what either will do, but what the republican party will do if Garfield is elected, and what the democracy will do in case Hancock is made chief magistrate. They will judge somewhat by the course which the campaign takes. The south is solid, and the north is so near solid that one Dixon, or Chisolm, or Twichell tragedy this summer, would make it impossible to break it. If the democratic leaders are wise they will cause to be sounded along the southern lines, "Let there be a fair deal this year!" Or at least it would be wise to have the murders for political effect committed in a less open way, and under circumstances which would relieve "the southern plan" of some of the more atrocious features, that have heretofore characterized it. The republicans are going to try to make a campaign in some of the southern states. The first instinct of the southern democrats will be to call out the rifle clubs again, and in fact that is just what may be expected. Prudence, however, might well suggest the inquiry whether it will pay to keep the Yazoo community "solid" at the cost of great northern states.

PARTY RECORDS.

One of the signs that there is far less disposition to confide in the democratic party than there was four years ago is seen in the course of the independent and non-partisan press, which then earnestly supported Tilden but now very generally inclines towards Garfield. It is noticeable in journals written in German, as well as in English. The record of the democratic party is up again. What that party has done during the last four years furnishes to the multitude of observing and thoughtful citizens the strongest of reasons, in addition to those derived from its previous career, why it should not be entrusted with power. Its tricky trifling with bimmum int doctrines; its dangerous paltering in financial humbugs and charlatanry; its low ideas of the civil service; its foolish and destructive adherence to state supremacy as against the republican ideal of nationality; its reckless contempt of fairness and honor in elections as illustrated in the Garcelon attempt in Maine and in the terrorism maintained in the south; the significant revelations of democratic views and purposes made by the extra session; the preponderance and aggressiveness of the confederate element, and numerous other acts and circumstances, all have their effect on the public mind, tending to show those large classes of citizens who think for themselves and are not controlled by party catchwords that the surest way to safety is not through a course of action which would place the democratic party in control of all branches and departments of the government. Against democratic history and tendency, as above noted, there are the essential principles of the republican party, attested in the devotion of that party to equal rights of citizens, its soundness on financial questions, its refusal to commit itself to any kind of communist doctrine or agrarian heresy, its record during long years in favor of actual and honest money as against innumerable schemes of inflation and of financial dishonesty abetted by the democratic party, and its unconquerable adherence to national principles against the Bourbon and confederate doctrines of state sovereignty. Of a contest which presents this contrast between parties the result should hardly be doubtful; and we believe that when the votes are counted in November there will be the same general surprise among the democrats of the country as was witnessed among the brethren of Oregon when they were seen rubbing their eyes over the figures the next day after our June election and wondering how it all could have happened.

THE "FRAUD" ISSUE.

Either it was not wise for the Cincinnati meeting to nominate Gen. Hancock, or the said meeting ought to have omitted a certain resolution of the platform which he is to stand on and is expected to commend. On general principles it may be stated that when two parties agree to leave a disputed question to the decision of a special tribunal, it is absurd and mean, not to say foolish and cowardly, for the defeated party to denounce the result as a "fraud." Not taking into account this common sense principle, the Cincinnati party have got Gen. Hancock into a very pretty dilemma. One of the resolutions arraigns President Hayes as a usurper, and denounces him as enjoying and distributing the "usufructs" of fraud. In his letter, which it is supposed will appear soon, Gen. Hancock will have to accept and approve these declarations. But Hancock is a major general in the regular army. In indorsing and approving the platform of his party he will accuse his superior officer of "fraud," and denounce the existing administration as a "conspiracy" against the rights of the people. Now it has been suggested that this would be a military offense, of which a court-martial might take cognizance. Gen. Hancock might avoid the embarrassment by resigning before he writes his letter; but this would be a decidedly unpleasant way, inasmuch as election is by no means certain, and no man likes to let go one good hold in life before he sees his way to grasp another. The "superb soldier" is unlucky in getting himself into a position which will require him to act in a disrespectful and ungentlemanly way towards his superior officer. Still, he may, perhaps, ignore the platform in his letter of acceptance. This would be the wisest way, as the platform is only a combination of absurdities and contradictions framed to catch votes north, south east and west; and the denunciation of the "great fraud" is the emptiest part of it, as the makers of the platform themselves proceeded to demonstrate by casting both the "defrauded," Tilden and Hendricks, overboard, and naming entirely new men. We shall see how much of a figure the "fraud issue" will cut in Gen. Hancock's letter. On this point there will be furnished no bad test for judging the extent of his common sense.

The Wallace investigation committee, which was appointed by the senate for partisan purposes, has been getting some testimony in New York out of the sort it bargained for. The object in appointing this committee was to collect and cook up testimony against the national election laws which—thanks to the firmness of President Hayes—have been sustained against the attacks of the party which favors "free and easy" voting. The supervisor of elections for the city of New York explained to the Wallace committee one day last week in regard to the manner in which Tammany and Tilden had conducted the naturalization business when these eminent representatives of reform politics were working together. The supervisor showed that a kind of mock court was held; and he gave the committee the names of men who were naturalized before they had been in the country six weeks. Thousands of the fraudulent certificates of 1868 were still outstanding. The number of persons who registered on these fraudulent certificates in 1876 was 10,000; but by 1878 the supervisor had so "spotted" them that the number of persons who got to vote on certificates of this kind was only about 1200. The supervisor gave the name of Patrick Goff, who had been a witness for persons desiring to be naturalized in 1096 cases. Certificates were sold on blank to applicants for naturalization, and they were charged from 50 cents to $2. Four hundred of these papers were taken in one day by Goff to Kings county. Many of the blanks were also taken to the river counties for sale, and in Saratoga county 400 were offered for sale. The supervisor then read from a number of the records of the supreme and superior courts to show that the certificates issued exceeded the number of persons who applied for naturalization papers, and also to show that a large number of names from the books of the court and addresses given had no existence, and frequently represented vacant lots and stone yards. It was frauds of this kind that the election laws were designed to prevent, and the Wallace committee didn't relish the testimony.

A letter in the Sacramento Record-Union of Saturday last signed "O." (Sam Clarke) contains this: "The character of our state politics makes it lively times among senatorial aspirants. The rumor is renewed that George H. Williams will soon come back from Washington, and it is further said that he depends on THE OREGONIAN to support his claims, having received assurances to that effect." THE OREGONIAN is not aware that George H. Williams intends soon to come back from Washington, nor does it know that he has any "claims" to urge; and it is certain that he has received no "assurances of support" from THE OREGONIAN. Nor is there any "rumor" to that effect, except such as may have been started by utterly irresponsible persons like this correspondent. However, we may say that should Judge Williams consent again to be a candidate for the senate, there are not a few who would willingly support him on the ground of preference for a man of first rate ability over the piddling politicians we have had in the senate for the last five or six years.

During his recent stay at Emporia, Kansas, Gen. Grant had something to say about his position in the Chicago convention. He plainly intimated that though unfamiliar with the workings of party machinery and in no sense a politician, he had been led to believe that his nomination was not only possible but probable, and that he rather expected it; but on serious reflection some time before, had almost determined to announce his peremptory withdrawal as a candidate because he saw and appreciated the objections of many to a third term. His confidential advisers, however, insisted that he should not, and as it has since proved, greatly exaggerated to him his chances of success. Grant seemed to feel grateful to those who stood by him, but could not conceal his thorough disgust for those who had so recklessly miscalculated his position and over-estimated his strength.

Advantages are offered by the O. R. & N. Co. to merchants and shippers east of the Blue mountains by which—in case they signify their willingness to ship by rail in the future, instead of over the old route via Umatilla—they may effect a saving of five days time and ten dollars a ton on all freights. Under this arrangement, if it be accepted, the company will lay down freight from Portland at Blue Mountain station for $25 a ton, a very moderate rate considering the distance and the number of transhipments. Already the enterprise of this company is offering large benefits to the country, which of course will be immeasurably increased as its plans get more fully into operation.

During 1879, 2397 vessels, 1075 propelled by steam and 1322 by sails, cleared from New York for Europe, carrying 102,318,568 bushels of grain. Of the whole but very few were American vessels. The freight paid these ships was nearly equal to what the American farmers received for their grain. The great profits of this carrying business, equalling the profits on our exported grain crop, goes mostly to foreigners. We, who equal other nations in every other enterprise, allow England to beat us out of sight in building and sailing ships; and worse still, we seem to have given up the contest as a hopeless one.

The gross earnings of the Northern Pacific Railroad Railroad for June were $361,289; for June last year, $198,744. The increase, $92,545, is quite favorable. Within two years the annual business of the road will amount to $5,000,000.

About the best thing Mr. Cann could do would be to set himself right before the people of Oregon in a communication to them through THE OREGONIAN.

CASCADES CANAL AND LOCKS.—Work on th
Cascades canal and locks is being prosecuted
with all possible vigor considering the obsta cles—particularly the recent high water. Although the water is steadily receding, yet it is thought that it will be toward the latter part of August before the full force of men will resume work. At present only about 75 men are employed. As soon as the water falls so as not to interfere with the work a force of 250 will be employed. It is feared that high water would do great damage to the work;
but through the good judgment, experience
and constant vigilance of Lieut. Charles F.
Powell, the officer in charge of the work, no permanent damage has resulted to the embankment. Lieut. Powell deserves much credit for his efficient services in saving the improvement from serious and heavy damage.

NEW MACHINERY.—Smith Bros & Watson
are constructing at their iron works four large hydraulic elevators for the new addition to Ainsworth dock; twenty buoys for the government; a 40-horse power engine and boiler for a grist mill for C. & M. C. Moore, at Al-mota; a hoisting engine and boiler for the use of the government at the Cascades locks;
an immense boiler for the Oregon City Wooten Mills; a boiler and engine for wheat elevator for Col. Cornelius at Cornelius on the Westside road; the iron work and vaults for the new court house, and cells for the new jail at Walla Walla; the iron work for L. Vail's new building, and castings for all bridges and mules on the narrow gauge road. The new machinery added to Smith Bros. & Watson's establishmen; from the Oregon Iron Works facilitates matters and enable them to turn out work much faster than last year.

CONTEMPT OF COURT.—Notwithstanding the injunction issued out of the state circuit court to prevent the driving of piles at the foot of U street, in East Portland, Joseph Smith, the contractor, continued work yesterday. On being apprised of the action of Mr. Smith, Mr. W. H. Andrus, president of the Jefferson Street Ferry Co. angrily, and in defiance of the order of Smith for contempt of court, Smith, it is stated, was authorized by A. J. Knott to continue the work notwithstanding the injunction and that he (Knott) would stand between him and the court. Mr. Knott owns the lot which is situated just north of the foot of U street, and the piles are being driven on his property.
It claims that he has a right to drive piles on his own land. The foot of U street is only 30 feet wide, and the ferry is 35, so that when the piles are driven the boat cannot land.

RAILROAD PROGRESS.—Mr. Henry Thielsen, assistant engineer of the O. R. & N. Co., who came down from the Dalles last evening, reports very little damage to the grade along the river by high water. By the end of August the entire grade will be finished from Celilo to Wallula. Tracklaying will probably begin by that time, as rails are expected then to be here. Within ten days a large force will be set at work on the grade of the proposed road beyond Snake river. This work will begin at Texas ferry, and will occupy two or three months. Work on the tunnels between the Cascades and Dalles will begin in the fall and continue during the entire winter.

FAREWELL BENEFIT.—Mr. John S. Lindsay, the well known and popular actor, whose name is so familiar to theater goers of Portland, will be the recipient of a farewell benefit at New Market Theater Saturday evening.
On this occasion the beautiful drama of "Enoch Arden" will be produced. Mr.
Lindsay appearing in the title role. He will be efficiently supported. Mr. Lindsay is a careful, conscientious and pains taking actor.
We bespeak a crowded house.

ARRAIGNED.—In the state circuit court yesterday, William Francis was arraigned and the indictment read yesterday afternoon.
Francis is under indictment for assault with intent to commit rape. Wm. M. Gregory was appointed by the court to defend, and Francis was allowed until this morning to plead. A. J. Kelly was also arraigned at the same time, being charged with larceny. He was allowed until this morning to plead.

FIRE AT SALEM.—The roof of the residence of Mrs. Coulter in Salem was discovered on fire Tuesday afternoon. An alarm of fire was sounded and the Salem fire department promptly responded, and the flames were extinguished. The house was set on fire by the children, who were playing with matches near where some kerosene oil had been spilled. The loss to the house and contents is covered by an insurance of $800.

APPOINTED PURSER.—Mr. Charles Hughes, who for several years has held the responsible position of purser on the steamship *Geo. W.
Elder*, has been appointed to a similar position on the new and magnificent steamer Columbia. Mr. Hughes has always been efficient, faithful and courteous in the discharge of his duties. The promotion is deserved and will be a matter of gratification to his many friends.

ASKING FOR COMMUTATION.—A petition was in circulation a few days ago by Mrs. Wintz-ingerode, praying Governor Thayer to commute the sentence of death recently passed upon Henry Wintzingerode to imprisonment for life. The plea is based on the well attested fact of the mental imbecility of the culprit and was signed by a number of prominent citizens.

THE "SHERWICK."—The lighthouse tender
Sherwick arrived at Astoria Tuesday morning
from her trip south to Cape Blanco and all the light stations between here and there.
On her way back she put into Yaquina bay
and enjoyed a forced visit there of eleven days, being bar bound for that length of time.

ARRESTED.—Detective J. C. Ross was arrested last evening on a charge of embezzlement and taken to the city jail. He was released on his own recognizance by Judge Barnes until to-day, when the case will be inquired into.

GONE EASTWARDS.—Miss Georgia Wood-
thorpe and Mr. Chas. E. Allen have both joined the "Sunny South Combination" and gone eastward. They left San Francisco bound for the east on the 12th inst.

CITY:

ENUMERATING CHINESE.—Mr. Suksdorf, general supervisor of census for the district of Oregon, informs us that the reports from all the enumerating districts have not yet been received, and consequently he is unable to complete his returns. Eleven enumerators have not yet presented their reports, which delays the whole work. Much difficulty has been and is experienced in the enumeration of the Chinese. There are known to be between 4500 and 5000 Chinese whose residence is Portland, but who are scattered over the country, working on railroads and other public improvements. It is very difficult to find these Mongolians and enumerate them. One of the enumerators was sent up a short time since to enumerate the Chinese employed on the railroad work between John Day and Willow Creek. The Chinese refused to give the enumerator any information whatever, to answer questions, or give their names. They were very suspicious and thought the enumerator was some tax collector. The only thing he could do was to count them, which he did, and found there are employed on that part of the road 905 Chinamen. Mr. Suksdorf says that there are at least 1000 Chinamen working on the Northern Pacific railroad, whose headquarters is Portland. He has sent an enumerator over to add them to the census. Twelve hundred Chinamen have already been enumerated who are working now among the various fisheries down the river. With all possible diligence on the part of the enumerators they will not be able to get all the Chinese population.

BUSY BEE SOCIETY.—A meeting of the Busy Bee Society was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. M. Rosenblatt. The society was organized over two years ago, and at one time had a membership of fifteen select little girls, who manifested their willingness to work for charity's sake. The society elects its officers as any other regular organized institution. The following were the members present: President, Miss Minnie Simon; secretary, Miss Clara Bergman; treasurer, Miss Eda Rosenblatt; and Miss Lillie Rosenblatt, Miss Fannie Meier, Miss Rachel Simon, and Miss Carrie Rosenblatt. The society meets every Wednesday afternoon at some member's residence, and devotes its time to fancy and ornamental needle and crochet work, the proceeds of which is donated to the different charitable institutions of the city. At one time, less than a year ago, they presented $150 to the different relief societies in this city, and thereby merited the good will not only of the needy, but those who are more able to give than they.

CASCADES CANAL AND LOCKS.—Work on the Cascades canal and locks is being prosecuted with all possible vigor considering the obstacles—particularly the recent high water. Although the water is steadily receding, yet it is thought that it will be toward the latter part of August before the full force of men will resume work. At present only about 75 men are employed. As soon as the water falls so as not to interfere with the work a force of 250 will be employed. It is feared that high water would do great damage to the work; but through the good judgment, experience and constant vigilance of Lieut. Charles F. Powell, the officer in charge of the work, no permanent damage has resulted to the embankment. Lieut. Powell deserves much credit for his efficient services in saving the improvement from serious and heavy damage.

NEW MACHINERY.—Smith Bros & Watson are constructing at their iron works four large hydraulic elevators for the new addition to Ainsworth dock; twenty buoys for the government; a 40-horse power engine and boiler for a grist mill for C. & M. C. Moore, at Almota; a hoisting engine and boiler for the use of the government at the Cascades locks; an immense boiler for the Oregon City Woolen Mills; a boiler and engine for wheat elevator for Col. Cornelius at Cornelius on the Westside road; the iron work and vaults for the new court house, and cells for the new jail at Walla Walla; the iron work for L. Vail's new building, and castings for all bridges and mules on the narrow gauge road. The new machinery added to Smith Bros. & Watson's establishmen; from the Oregon Iron Works facilitates matters and enable them to turn out work much faster than last year.

CONTEMPT OF COURT.—Notwithstanding the injunction issued out of the state circuit court to prevent the driving of piles at the foot of U street, in East Portland, Joseph Smith, the contractor, continued work yesterday. On being apprised of the action of Mr. Smith, Mr. W. H. Andrus, president of the Jefferson Street Ferry Co. angrily, and in defiance of the order of Smith for contempt of court, Smith, it is stated, was authorized by A. J. Knott to continue the work notwithstanding the injunction and that he (Knott) would stand between him and the court. Mr. Knott owns the lot which is situated just north of the foot of U street, and the piles are being driven on his property. It claims that he has a right to drive piles on his own land. The foot of U street is only 30 feet wide, and the ferry is 35, so that when the piles are driven the boat cannot land.

RAILROAD PROGRESS.—Mr. Henry Thielsen, assistant engineer of the O. R. & N. Co., who came down from the Dalles last evening, reports very little damage to the grade along the river by high water. By the end of August the entire grade will be finished from Celilo to Wallula. Tracklaying will probably begin by that time, as rails are expected then to be here. Within ten days a large force will be set at work on the grade of the proposed road beyond Snake river. This work will begin at Texas ferry, and will occupy two or three months. Work on the tunnels between the Cascades and Dalles will begin in the fall and continue during the entire winter.

FAREWELL BENEFIT.—Mr. John S. Lindsay, the well known and popular actor, whose name is so familiar to theater goers of Portland, will be the recipient of a farewell benefit at New Market Theater Saturday evening. On this occasion the beautiful drama of "Enoch Arden" will be produced. Mr. Lindsay appearing in the title role. He will be efficiently supported. Mr. Lindsay is a careful, conscientious and pains taking actor. We bespeak a crowded house.

ARRAIGNED.—In the state circuit court yesterday, William Francis was arraigned and the indictment read yesterday afternoon. Francis is under indictment for assault with intent to commit rape. Wm. M. Gregory was appointed by the court to defend, and Francis was allowed until this morning to plead. A. J. Kelly was also arraigned at the same time, being charged with larceny. He was allowed until this morning to plead.

FIRE AT SALEM.—The roof of the residence of Mrs. Coulter in Salem was discovered on fire Tuesday afternoon. An alarm of fire was sounded and the Salem fire department promptly responded, and the flames were extinguished. The house was set on fire by the children, who were playing with matches near where some kerosene oil had been spilled. The loss to the house and contents is covered by an insurance of $800.

APPOINTED PURSER.—Mr. Charles Hughes, who for several years has held the responsible position of purser on the steamship Geo. W. Elder, has been appointed to a similar position on the new and magnificent steamer Columbia. Mr. Hughes has always been efficient, faithful and courteous in the discharge of his duties. The promotion is deserved and will be a matter of gratification to his many friends.

ASKING FOR COMMUTATION.—A petition was in circulation a few days ago by Mrs. Wintzingerode, praying Governor Thayer to commute the sentence of death recently passed upon Henry Wintzingerode to imprisonment for life. The plea is based on the well attested fact of the mental imbecility of the culprit and was signed by a number of prominent citizens.

THE "SHERWICK."—The lighthouse tender Sherwick arrived at Astoria Tuesday morning from her trip south to Cape Blanco and all the light stations between here and there. On her way back she put into Yaquina bay and enjoyed a forced visit there of eleven days, being bar bound for that length of time.

ARRESTED.—Detective J. C. Ross was arrested last evening on a charge of embezzlement and taken to the city jail. He was released on his own recognizance by Judge Barnes until to-day, when the case will be inquired into.

GONE EASTWARDS.—Miss Georgia Woodthorpe and Mr. Chas. E. Allen have both joined the "Sunny South Combination" and gone eastward. They left San Francisco bound for the east on the 12th inst.

THE "COLUMBIA."

THE FINEST STEAMSHIP AFLOAT ARRIVES HERE LAST NIGHT.

A Crowd of 2000 at the Dock to See Her, But Are Disappointed.

Questions such as "When will the Columbia arrive?" "Has the Columbia been telegraphed?" have been asked nearly as often in this city since Sunday as questions concerning the whereabouts of the St. Paul during the three days preceding Grant's arrival last October. She is here. She left Astoria at 6:20 yesterday morning, and passed Kalama at 3:50. About 2000 persons assembled at and near the steamship dock between 6 and 7 o'clock. A few favored ones took stations on the Oregon, the small boy perched on the west side freight cars and a few of the more daring climbed to the roof of the dock. As the Oregon was gaily decorated in honor of her sister, and about 7 o'clock the black mass of the Columbia's easter were seen below the bend, and at 7:15 many to the disappointment of the crowd, the Columbia touched at Ainsworth dock. The Oregon tendered a welcome from her gangway and it soon met her. The familiar form of Capt. Bolles, his face rough and brown from the long voyage, but more cheery than usual, greeted the commander's friends, and he landed a freight of relief to the million dollars' worth of property which had been committed to his charge, was safely docked. The crowd at the steamship wharf made a stampede for the dock below and were soon disappointed when they found the entrance locked. The local officials of the O. R. & N. Co. and reporters, were admitted and shown through the steamer.

The Columbia is all that had been expected and merits the appellation "Queen of the Ocean." Her size, tonnage, machinery, etc., were described in THE OREGONIAN a few days after she was launched and a repetition is unnecessary. She looks inside and out, very much like the Oregon. She is about one-third larger; her model is better, the hull being sharper, and her whole line the perfection of beauty, and her speed more is fleet. She has forty per cent. more power than the Oregon, and is fitted with independent air, feed and bilge pumps. Novelties in her outside and living appointments are handsome white dome extending over the upper saloon; stained glass Queen Anne windows; suits of rooms of three; ladies' boudoir, equivalent to the smoking room; state rooms in suits of three, with berths fitted up like those in Pullman sleeping cars; handsome bouquets of artificial flowers in elegant vases on the tables of the saloons; and the electric light. The last is wonderful in its simple workings. The lamps in the state rooms are like a ground glass globes and the light is turned on or off by means of keys which are turned in what looks like an ordinary lock for a drawer. The cabin lamps are also of ground glass and somewhat larger than ordinary lanterns. The light is mellow clear and grateful to the eyes. The vessel is provided with six boats and eleven life saving rafts. The boats are swung overhead, and leave on the broad decks an ample promenade. The pantry is a model of neatness and order. With elegant china and silver ware, secured in rich shelving, it is by no means the most uninteresting portion of the ship. The dining hall, the social hall, the office and quarters and the staterooms are as handsome as fine, highly polished wood, bright plating, and rich carpets, upholstery and tapestry can make it so.

It is difficult to say who is the proudest of the ship, Capt. Bolles, her commander, or Chief Engineer Henderson her architect. Only those who can remember the period of calloused when they donned their first pair of boots and the attendant emotion can appreciate the feelings of pride which swell in the bosoms of these worthy officers. All visitors were enthusiastic in admiration of the ship, and some who have travelled on the best steamers between New York and Liverpool pronounce the Columbia in every point the finest vessel afloat. She will be thrown open for public inspection in a few days.

The Columbia on her voyage was officered as follows: Commander, F. C. Bolles; chief engineer, J. C. Henderson; first assistant engineer, H. Brinkerhoff; second assistant engineer, J. L. Richards; third assistant engineer, G. H. Crosby; first officer, W. R. DeWolf; second officer, H. S. Ackley; third officer, A. Tallon; steward, J. S. Waters.

THE COLUMBIA AND THE BAR.

Survey of the Hog's Back Ordered—A New Channel Probably Forming Through the Bar, Etc.

Since the commencement of the summer flood in the Columbia, the channel above Tongue Point, as usual, has changed, and pilots have no small difficulty in bringing vessels through. The Oregon and State of California ran aground on their last trips up, and were detained three hours. To give all assistance possible to pilots, Col. G. H. Gillespie, U. S. engineer, has ordered a survey of the river, or better known to river men the "bar," to be made from Jim Crow Point to nearly opposite Tongue Point. The surveying party will leave here next Monday, and will remain until the work is thoroughly done.

An examination of St. Helens bar was made under direction of Col. Gillespie Tuesday, with special reference to the effect of the dam constructed last winter at the head of Willamet slough. It is well known that heretofore the strong current through the slough has

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 22, 1880.

AN INQUIRY.

SALEM, July 20, 1880.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In commenting editorially on the findings of Judge Deady in the suits of the state vs. the board of school land commissioners, you say, "But though objection has been made to some of the items of expenditure, the state has not undertaken to offer evidence to impugn the integrity or honesty of the bills. In this we believe the state has been remiss."

Now if THE OREGONIAN means that the legislature was remiss when it failed to make an appropriation to defray the necessary expenses of this prosecution, then the point is well taken; but if by the "state" is meant the present administration, the criticism is too severe. The examination of the records, the compilation of exhibits, and the preparation of those complaints involved more labor than the casual observer may be prepared to concede. And for all this labor the attorneys and their clerk had no assurance of compensation. Unusual obstacles presented themselves at every step. The district attorney refused to sign the complaints, characterizing the proceedings as a purely personal quarrel in which he did not care to mix. The attorneys conducting the prosecution for the state were accused of acting from motives of personal malice and vindictiveness, and without any authority of law. Their clerk, who verified the complaints, did not escape the torrent of concentrated abuse. And now we are assured by certain parties that the republican senators from Multnomah and Marion will successfully oppose, in the incoming legislature, any appropriation to compensate us for our services. Whatever we could do, we did. We had no funds with which to pay the fees and expenses of witnesses, and therefore we are censured by THE OREGONIAN, while WE are not commended for doing what we have done. Is not that a little unfair? W. STANLEY.

[THE OREGONIAN did not blame the legislative committee. It simply meant to say that in the examination had before Judge Deady counsel for the state offered no evidence to impugn the integrity of the payments referred to. This conclusion was implied in Judge Deady's statements.—ED.]

The Adventist church being built in Dayton is 36x24 feet, with belfry in the front 34 feet in hight.

In monetary matters there is a fair volume to transactions with rates about as have prevailed for the past several weeks. There is not any unusual call for loans and depositors are prepared to meet the increased inquiry expected to arise when the new grain crop is to be moved.

At present there is no life in the wheat traffic, shippers and buyers quietly awaiting the turn of events upon the incoming of the new crops, or devoting themselves to other matters. The crop reports still continue to be good from all parts of the valley, and in nearly all cases the grain is filling out full and plump and promises to be of excellent quality, while the reports from California indicate that the contrary as to quality will be true. A San Francisco exchange of a late date says it looks now as if there would be a considerable amount of low grade wheat in that state this season; especially in the northern counties is there much complaint of short yields and bad quality. Oregon wheat thoroughly cleaned has always met with much favor in the European markets, and the same care exercised this year in the experts made will still further enhance the reputation of the Oregon product.

In wool there has been very little change noticeable for the last few days. Eastern Oregon wools still seem neglected as the market here is for valley, which sells readily from 26@30c. We hear of a purchase by a San Francisco house of about 40,000 pounds Umpqua wool at a very extreme figure, 2 or 4 cents above market price, and cannot account for such a figure unless to meet some previous contract. This figure is no criterion of the market, and another sale could hardly be effected at such a high price at present. Receipts continue large. Over 81,000 pounds valley and 35,000 pounds East Oregon arrived the past twenty-four hours. There will be over 2000 bales on outgoing steamer to San Francisco.

The market for eggs is weakening here somewhat on account of larger receipts. Some houses are selling at 22½c. We look for a lower market all round.

Other products are unchanged.

DR. PAUL M. GRENAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private diseases.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

such as SEMINAL WEAKNESS or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual diseases have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty; and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.
